Annual May Festival Draws Large Crowd

The symposium of the Grayling Public School was filled with family groups and friends of the 494 children who presented Michigan On Parade on Friday evening, May First.

The parade was one of the many activities which honor our state during the month of May. The children were well trained and presented the program in an easy and enjoyable manner which speaks well for the elementary teachers. Each teacher was responsible for her individual grade and joint planning necessary where more than one grade worked together.

Special comment recognizes the Holland Tulip Festival by the kindergartens under the direction of Mrs. Funck and Mrs. Smith; the singing and presentation of the apple blossoms; the robins; and a swing song for spring by Mrs. Fenton's and Mrs. Edson's first grades; the interpretations of moods and activities of various Indian tribes which were native to the state, with Indian music typical of tribal dances, by the second grades under the direction of (Continued on Page 8)

FIRES CONTINUE TO PLAGUE WOODS AREAS

Fires continued to plague the county prior to the past week of high humidity. On Sunday, April 26th at about 10 a. m. the Conservation air patrol plane reported smoke in the northeast corner of the county, in Section 1, T/28 N, R/1W. Two pieces of equipment were dispatched, and about half way there Fire Officer - Forrest Annis was notified by radio of a another blaze eight or ten miles to the south, in Section 14, T/27 N, R/1W. Officer Annis checked on the first blaze and called in manpower from Lovells and Lewiston, who got there before the equipment arrived and had it under control by the time the units did get there. Meantime the Mio office had dispatched a tractor and plow unit to the second fire, and one of the local units was also diverted to it. This fire was somewhat self-contained as it started along a trail road parallel to a swamp and burned toward wet ground. An impressed laborer, Don Schell of Pontiac, was overcome by heat and smoke and spent one night in Mercy Hospital and was released. About 8 acres were burned over at the Lovells fire, and two acres in the second fire.

A fire in Sec. 34, T/28N, R/1W, was reported at 1:20 p. m. Sunday by the Down River tower, cross-checked by the U. S. Forest Service Tower near Luzerne, and location confirmed by the Grayling conservation plane. The number-plow and tractor-plow units were dispatched and reached the fire at 2 o'clock, and in 25 minutes had it under control. Officer Annis investigated the area and found the blaze had probably started where a tree had been struck by lightning three days before, igniting the punk where the tree was hollow, ten feet above ground. This fire smoldered until coals fell into the surrounding grass and blazed up. No evidence of humans or cars was found in the area, which was away from any roads. The fire ran in on the Big Creek Hunt club property and burned a total of 5.8 acres.

1964 Michigan Week Nears

People here and throughout the state are moving forward with final plans for the 11th annual Michigan Week, May 17th-23rd.

Michigan Week has become a great tradition, focusing attention on Michigan's heritage, growth and progress, resources, institutions and its future potential.

Each day of the week has a special designation to focus attention on various phases of the civic, religious and economic life of the community and the state. The week opens with observance of Spiritual Foundations Day on Sunday, May 17th, when tribute is paid to the part that churches of all faiths have played in the exploration, settlement, history and development of the state and its communities. Monday is Government Day, when the role of government in the lives of Michigan citizens receives special attention. This too is the day of the annual exchange of mayors and village presidents.

Hospitality Day is Tuesday, the day for expressing our friendliness and neighborliness.

Wednesday, Our Livelihood Day, is the day when every Michigan citizen should give thought to how he, his family, and his friends earn their living, when each community should take stock of the industries, businesses, agriculture, resorts and institutions which provide a livelihood for its people. Education Day, Thursday, is dedicated to the schools of Michigan at all levels. Friday, Our Heritage Day, is for attention to the proud history and heritage of the state and communities and its meaning for the future. Saturday is Our Youth Day, for salute to youth of the community.

Throughout the week, throughout the state there will be open house programs, ground breakings for new civic buildings, dedications of historical sites and new public facilities, parades and festivals, luncheons and banquets featuring all-Michigan menus, exhibits of Michigan products, cultural activities in every field, and scores of events large and small in recognition of state and community assets and advantages.

Michigan Week represents everybody's enthusiasm for his home state, and everybody is expected to take part in some way.

All restaurants in the county are being urged by the Crawford County Michigan Week Committee to offer free coffee to all out of town guests on Tuesday, May 19, Hospitality Day of Michigan Week.

Inter-City Bowling Match Set For This Weekend

The 2nd Annual Inter-City Bowling Match between the top eight men and the top eight women from both cities will compete for the Grayling-Roseconmm-State Bank plaque this coming week-end.

This unique match will pit the top eight men and women from both cities on a total pinfall basis for three games each to be rolled at Chervan Lanes in Roseconmm on Saturday night, May 9th, at 9:00 p. m. and the final block of 3 games to be rolled at the American Legion Lanes in Grayling on Sunday night at 7:30 p. m.

In the first match last year the Grayling men downed the Roseconmm men to win one year's possession of the plaque while the Roseconmm ladies defeated the Grayling ladies to retain possession of their plaque for one year.

Bowling fans are invited, in fact urged, to come to the lanes on both nights to cheer their favorite teams. The match proved very close last year and was very much enjoyed by both participants and spectators.

This Friday Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bear leave for Africa flying from New York. The first two weeks of the trip will be spent in Kenya and Uganda to see and photograph wildlife in the National Parks of those areas. One of the highlights of the trip will be a night spent at TREE-TOPS, an English Lodge built high in a tree over a water hole. From a balcony guests watch wild animals, including elephants and rhinos, as they come in to drink at dusk and on through the evening.

On May 30th Mrs. Bear will go to Europe by way of Egypt and the Holy Land to visit interesting places on the continent and visit friends in Norway and Sweden.

Mr. Bear will continue south in Africa to Mozambique where he will join Arthur Godfrey, Peter Barrett and Robert Halmi for a hunting and photography safari during the first weeks in June. Peter Barrett, who is outdoor editor of TRUE magazine, will write of their experiences for this monthly publication.

It is not generally known that Arthur Godfrey is an expert with the bow. He will do some hunting with this weapon and some with a gun and will tape his daily radio shows from his safari camps which will be flown to New York for airing. It is expected that these programs will be heard on his morning shows beginning about June 8th.

Robert Halmi, the photographer who did the pictures on the Grizzly Hunt for LIFE magazine last fall, has been working with CBS script writers and Mr. Godfrey's producer in preparing an outline of a film for a television show of the hunt. In addition to the TV film, Bear and Halmi will make one, or perhaps two films for the Bear Archery Company's film library.

On June 26th Mr. Bear and Mr. Halmi will join another safari party for two more weeks of hunting in southern Tanganyika. This group will include Sam Sneed of golfing fame and Douglas Kennedy editor of TRUE magazine. Following this hunt Mr. Bear will join Mrs. Bear in Europe for a ten day holiday before returning home.

Vandalism Slows Camp Progress

District Forester Ralph E. King reports that progress on Lake Margrethe Campground was progressing satisfactorily with a target date of June 1 for completion. This may be delayed now, however, because vandalism is making it necessary to duplicate some of the work. Toilets and signs were placed on April 23 and 24. On Saturday night, April 25, hoodlums defaced signs with pellet guns, knocked the signs down, punched holes in the toilet screens and threw them into the toilet pits. They also opened up the Portage Creek dam, and if prompt action had not been taken by a camper nearby, it is very probable that the bridge and fill across Portage Creek would have been washed out.

Much of the vandalism at State Forest Campgrounds occurs on Saturday and Sunday nights. Inasmuch as the Lake Margrethe Campground will provide swimming and picnicking facilities for local residents, the City of Grayling, Grayling Township, Crawford County Road Commission, and Michigan National Guard are cooperating with the Department of Conservation in constructing this facility. It is hoped that all local residents will cooperate by reporting any vandalism immediately to local police authorities or the Department of Conservation. It would be particularly beneficial if regular patrols could be made by local authorities each week-end.

To date over $20,000 has been spent by the Dept. of Conservation in constructing this campground, in addition to thousands of hours of labor by inmates crews, Social Welfare crews and Conservation Department Personnel.

UNITED CHURCH WOMEN MEET

A group of ladies representing four Protestant churches in this community met last Friday noon at Danebod Hall for a potluck luncheon. They took the first step in organizing a local United Church Women group, a branch of the National Council of Churches. It is this organization which sponsors the World Day of Prayer, May Day Fellowship, and World Community Day. The topic of the day was ONE FAMILY UNDER GOD — racial equality. Mrs. Jespersen briefly explained the purpose of the meeting, and then told of a recent experience in Minneapolis which vividly described a dramatic instance of real Christian brotherly love.

Hold National Honor Society Initiation Dinner

The National Honor Society held its initiation dinner on April 22, 1964, at 6:30. This was a planned pot luck affair held in the school cafeteria, with 71 parents and members attending.

Mr. Fenton explained about the National Honor Society and what it means to be a member. The method of selection of members was explained.

Mr. Don Gotthro gave a talk on "The Importance of an Education in Our Way of Life."

President Roy Wedge then called each of the eight new members to the speaker's table, where the member was given a question or a statement to discuss. Some of the new members had a little trouble thinking of things to talk about, so their speeches were quite brief.

At the present time there are 29 National Honor Society members attending Grayling High School. They would like to take this opportunity to thank all of the parents who helped to make this occasion a success.

Plans are to have an initiation dinner each year.

Jack Pine Budworm
On The Upswing

Forest Supervisor, L. A. Pommeroy, Huron-Manistee National Forests, reports that the jack pine budworm population is on the upswing throughout the Manistee National Forest and some jack pine killing can be expected. The jack pine budworm is a tree damaging pest found throughout the Lake States. It overwinters as a small larva under pine bark scales. In late May they emerge and start feeding on buds and new needles of pine. As the larvae grow older, needles are also consumed. During epidemics larvae can strip foliage off pines and the trees die. Heaviest feeding occurs during mid-June, before larvae change into pupae and adults. The adult moth is dark gray, about the size of a one cent piece.

Usually, natural enemies as small wasps, flies, and diseases control budworm epidemics, but occasional chemical controls are needed to prevent extensive killing of pine. In the past DDT at the rate of one pound per acre, applied from air, was used. However, its long residual effects may become harmful to wildlife. Because of this, the Forest Service is planning an experimental aerial spray program to test several other chemicals.

About 500 acres of jack pine will be sprayed in small blocks with Malathion, Cygon, Dimethoate, and DDT. Spraying will be done with a helicopter to reduce undesirable drift. All spraying will be done in Barton and Norwich Townships, Newaygo County. Another test series will be made west of Mio.

County Library Part Of State-Wide Survey

The Crawford County Library was one of 271 public libraries in Michigan which participated in the first state-wide survey on public library use ever conducted in the state, according to Genevieve M. Casey, State Librarian.

The survey, conducted during the week of February 10, showed that over a million people use Michigan's public libraries every week, borrowing from collections totaling over 10 million volumes and using the reference and other special services available.

State-wide the survey showed that more than 615,000 elementary and high school students, or one-out-of-three enrolled in Michigan's public and parochial schools, use public libraries every week, in addition to college and university students or one-out-of-three who attend Michigan's 69 colleges and universities. Local results showed that of 247 patrons surveyed, 90 were elementary students, 101 high school, and 22 college and university.

State-wide, over 135,000 men and women in business, industry, communications and the professions plus 140,000 housewives walk into our libraries every week. Other weekly patrons include 20,000 retirees and 8,000 unemployed. Locally, 22 patrons were in business, industry, communications and the professions, in addition to 27 housewives, 4 retirees and 4 unemployed.

State-wide, the survey showed that personal use was the major reason most people use the library. School use was second, followed by job-related reasons. Locally, 139 persons listed personal use, 100 school use and 42 came into the library for job-related reasons.

The total state picture showed the chief age bracket was the 6 to 18 year olds, followed by men and women in the 22-to-40 age group. Adults 41-to-60 were next, followed by ages 19-to-21 and 51 and older. Lowest age group was the 4-to-6 year old. The results at the Crawford County Library showed 6-to-18 93, 41-to-60, 44, 19-to-31, 10, 61 plus 4.

State-wide, women outnumbered the men by a 60-40 ratio, with some exceptions. The final tally at the Crawford County Library showed 159 women and 98 men.

Although 74 per cent of Michigan's library users get the materials and information they ask for, 280,000 patrons are unable to get the books, pictures, films, phonographs and tape recordings because many of the libraries cannot afford first-rate collections and the necessary related services. In Grayling 199 reported they got the material they sought, 42 got part of the material they asked for, and 22 did not obtain what they wanted. In a letter to all librarians who surveyed, Miss Casey extended her appreciation for their cooperation pointing out that "the survey has provided the Michigan State Board for Libraries and the Michigan Library Association with valuable information which documents the need for more financial support for Michigan's public libraries."

ON STRAIGHT TICKETS

Aside from being a timely political maneuver, the proposal by Rep. Russell Strange to change Michigan's ballot system might bear serious consideration.

Strange, Clare Republican who heads the House Elections Committee, is proposing to eliminate the "straight ticket" voting in the ballot box by instituting what is known as the Massachusetts plan.

His proposal at this time appears as a frantic effort to prevent a Democratic takeover of Congressional seats if an at-large election is required this fall.

Taken out of this political context, however, the Massachusetts plan, now used by 17 states, has substantial merit. It would require a voter to cast his ballot for each office individually as opposed to marking a single square to elect all candidates for offices from one party.

Straight ticket voting in Michigan is apparently high, with the Democrats claiming slightly more party-line voters than the Republicans.

Party affiliations are listed under the Massachusetts plan, but candidates are grouped under the office they seek, with their party listing next to the name.

Problems incurred for election officials by the Massachusetts plan are not readily discernable but some of the advantages to the voting public are:

Requiring the voter to consciously vote for each of the offices to be filled in an election might well make Mr. Voting Citizen more aware of the government he is directing.

Greater knowledge of the offices and candidates on the part of the citizenry could well lead to better candidates and campaigns, and presumably an improvement in the caliber of officeholders throughout the hierarchy of government.

CLEAN BILL

Michigan savings and loan associations got a clean bill of health amid reports of questionable practices in similar groups in other states.

Activities spotlighted in national magazines elsewhere have had no effect on Michigan's ever-growing saving and loan associations, reports Secretary of State James M. Hare.

Hare emphasized all of Michigan's 34 associations, which have 41 branches, are subject to periodic field examinations by his department.

In 1963 the associations recorded a sharp increase of more than $92 million over the previous year and there is no indication of a change in this upward trend. In the first month of this year another hike, of about $6 million was noted.

Saving and loan associations in Michigan had total assets of $72 million at the end of 1963, Hare said.

All savings and loan associations are approved by the state before they open for general operations.

TEACH CORPS

One man's idea furthered by 200 volunteers may soon result in a massive project to encourage the mental growth of underprivileged children.

Dr. David Gottlieb, Michigan State University professor, got the idea last year. It was to send college student volunteers into areas to encourage young people from economically underprivileged homes to better themselves.

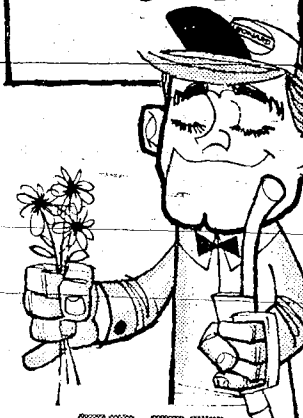

The volunteers among MSU students grew quickly and soon were working in several areas in Central Michigan. They went wherever school district officials asked for their assistance.

Expansion of Gottlieb's Student Education Corps to other colleges in the state is now seen as a possibility for increasing the 200 volunteers to about 10,000.

Student spokesmen from several of Michigan's colleges and universities recently indicated they would be interested in starting a similar operation in their areas, with MSU serving as a kind of clearing house for the corps activities.

A suggestion to bring the program under the auspices of a government agency, such as the Governor's office, was flatly turned down by Gottlieb. He warned the effort could be "organized to death" if it was taken out of the hands of the students themselves.

The Newspaper and the Retailer...

From the Boonville, Indiana, Standard: "It is a pity retailers so often have to learn the same lesson over and over again through cost and hardship."

"This observation was made by Edward R. Engle, official of the National Retail Merchants Association. Mr. Engle was referring to the importance of newspaper advertising to retail trade."

His findings were based on a study made of the results of the New York newspaper strike. It was found that there is no substitute for newspaper advertising, and that without advertising, retailing would be in a chaotic state, as stock needs and turnover would be impossible to predict. It is also stressed that when the advertising of big stores is absent the entire shopping complex — including the little stores — feel the ill effects.

The Standard sums up in these words: "The ultimate loser from inadequate advertising, then, is the consumer who pays for losses due to slow turnover, waste and high per item selling costs."

The basic principle here is simple enough. If people don't know what you have to offer, they can't and won't come seeking it. Successful retailing and intelligent and extensive advertising go hand in hand.

Strategy Versus Tactics...

The Administration's announced "war on poverty" drive poses an exceedingly delicate question. There is no doubt of its political appeal — everyone wants poverty to be eliminated, everyone wants to be prosperous. But the means to the end are not so simple a proposition.

President Neilan of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States recently made a note-worthy contribution to this matter. The way to relieve poverty, he pointed out, lies in the adoption of government policies and attitudes that will permit the free enterprise system to operate at peak efficiency — and so produce more jobs and better jobs. And he added this: "No outpouring of government money, no matter how great, on housing, education, medical care, public works and the like can cure the infinitely complex problems of poverty in the

TELL HER YOU CARE

United States."

It can also be said that this kind of outpouring of federal money — coming on top of an already huge deficit — could create more poverty than it would cure. For an almost certain result would be additional inflation, a further degrading of the dollar's value, and a decline in the purchasing power of the millions of people who live on fixed incomes. A "war on poverty" slogan may be sound political strategy — but we are still a long way from adopting the proper tactics.

Square Dancers Host Twelve Clubs

The Ausable Swingers Square Dance Club held its regular dance on Saturday, May 2, with an all time high in attendance. Sixty-five couples were on hand to dance to the calls of Darrell Figg of Traverse City.

Twelve clubs were represented from Vanderbilt, Central Lake, East Jordan, Charlevoix, Traverse City, Houghton Lake, Lansing, Flint, Mio, Harrison, Lake City, and Stockbridge. The Grayling club was very happy for the wonderful cooperation within its own membership which made the evening a huge success.

The Vanderbilt club took the Ausable Swingers' banner, which means that eight couples from Grayling will have to go there to retrieve it.

Several couples stopped in to watch Saturday's dancing. There is no charge of observing at any time.

Motorcycle Endurance Race Held Last Sunday

Seventy-four motorcycle riders from various clubs, all members of the American Motorcycle Association and coming from Detroit, Pontiac, Jackson, Midland, Saginaw, Flint and Alma, competed in a 107-mile endurance race in Crawford County last Sunday. There were several hill climbs on the route, and mud holes, as well as the river crossing, to test the skill of the drivers, and checkpoints to test whether they maintained the 24 miles per hour average.

Moose Lodge Activities

The WOTM had their regular meeting Monday evening, with nomination of officers for the coming year, and a baby shower for Pat Bayn. Gynn Carr and Nellie Haas have been on the sick list, but are feeling much better. Darlene Decker is on the sick list with a broken leg.

We are very sorry to hear that the State Director, Mr. Kreisinger, is in the hospital at Grand Rapids. On our own sick list we have John Paeco, who is at Mercy Hospital. We wish both of them a speedy recovery, and we're sure that cards or visits from the members will be welcome.

There was a regular meeting held Friday evening at the lodge. It was reported that more blood was needed in the blood bank, and a motion was carried that some remodeling be done to the club room. The money needed for remodeling will come from a building fund.

Committee chairman for this year were named. Those named were: membership and conservation; Elmer Neal; Civic Affairs, Butch Foster; Ritual, Bill Fitzgerald; Sports, Art Stephenson; Entertainment, Dick Johnson; Audit, Jim Post; Building and Building Fund, John Galloway. Any members desiring to work on a committee should contact any of these chairmen. They will be glad to have you.

Saturday evening, a campaign was launched for our building fund, with a Beaver Supper. Bud Jones, who cooked the beaver received many fine compliments. Bud Jones and Bob Stephan donated the beaver, and our thanks go out to them. Also our thanks to the members who worked so hard in the kitchen. Without them, it would not have been so successful. We are very happy to report that the funds needed to build a new band stand where the front porch is now, and redecorate the rest of the club along with some remodeling are already way over the halfway mark. That alone proves that thru co-operation, you get results!

Some cement was to be poured Tuesday, so that on Sunday May 10th, we can start our project. So if you have a hammer or a saw, or paint brush, come on down, and we'll put you to work. If you don't have one we'll find you one, and even show you how to use it, if you're willing to help. We plan on getting started about 10 a. m., or after church. The Moose Lodge encourages that your church and family should come before your lodge.

We would also like some volunteers to do some painting on the outside for Saturday.

An active member is a happy member.

Monday.
Miss Ollie Herman is enjoying a ten days' vacation from her duties at the Lewis drug store. She left Monday for a short visit in Cheboygan, after which she will go to her old home in Onaway for the remainder of the week.

Miss Mildred Rosebury is the new night operator at the local telephone exchange, to succeed
Miss Wilma Spies. Miss Metha Carribeau has charge of one of the day shifts.

Four of Grayling's young people
Donald Herick, Mildred Bates,
Elsie Bates and Charles Owens had an unpleasant experience Sat-day afternoon and night as the result of a trip to gather arbutus.
They left home about 2 o'clock in the afternoon and drove to Wakeley bridge. After gathering a quantity of flowers they decided to return home by way of Roscommon.
They got onto the wrong road and ended up at South Branch Ranch about 9 o'clock, having spent over an hour digging their car out of a mud hole. Again starting they got on the wrong road and landed at the McMaster bridge. When finally getting on a road to Grayling the oil ran low, the pistons finally set, the party walked six miles reaching here early in the morning very hungry and fatigued.

$1 In Federal Grants Costs $1.33 Locally
(Special to the Avalanche)
New York — As far as Crawford County is concerned, the Federal aid program is a costly proposition. Local residents are paying more toward the program, through their taxes, than are people in most parts of the country and are getting back less.
For every dollar that Washington allots to the local area, for public housing, libraries, job training, urban renewal, hospital construction, scholarships and the many other aid projects sponsored by the Government, the cost, locally, is $1.33.
The finding is based on a new study made by the Tax Foundation, a non-profit research organization here, on the state-by-state allocation of Federal grants-in-aid. Its figures are for the fiscal year 1963.
It shows that the various aid programs throughout the nation amounted to $5.3 billion in the year, not counting what was spent for highway and road construction.
In 19 of the states, taxpayers paid more than a dollar for each dollar of aid received. As for the other states, one broke even and 30 got back more than they paid out.
The figures indicate that approximately $102,000 of the taxes collected from Crawford County residents went into the aid program. An estimated $77,000 came back in the form of Federal grants.
Thus, only about 75 per cent of the money sent to Washington from the local area made the return trip.
From the State of Michigan, as a whole, $233,500,000 was sent as compared with $176,300,000 that came back in grants.
The remainder was used, after deduction for administration expenses, in the poorer sections of the country on the ground that it should be distributed according to need and not on a dollar-for-dollar basis.
The grants-in-aid program has been growing larger and larger each year, the Tax Foundation reports.
Just how far-reaching it has become is evidenced by the fact that it takes a 63-page book to list the kinds of projects for which Federal funds are available.
The book, published by the Area Redevelopment Administration, is entitled "Handbook of Federal Aids to Communities."

May Festival

Mrs. Robertson and Mrs. Slater. The third grades under the direction of Mrs. Gaid and Miss Kraus demonstrated recreation of the lumberman by square dancing.

The fourth grades sang Michigan - Water Wonderland and Smoke the Bear, with the real Smokey looking on. Mrs. Sales and Mrs. Giegling were in charge of this group. Mrs. Rovee and Miss Douglas used the fifth grades to take a trip to many cities and locations in Michigan with rhymes to explain each location which adds to the industrial and tourist value of the state.

The sixth grades then presented the tourist attractions which we have to offer, under the direction of Mrs. Ashton and Mrs. Westervelt. The program was concluded with the audience participating in singing "I Want to Go Back to Michigan".

ed; also Mrs. Emil Niederer and Caroline Klein for helping with the music; Mr. Jess Sales for contributing his time in the making of the posters; Mr. Gierke and the typing class for the programs; and all others who helped make the program a success.

Mrs. Westervelt and Mrs. Slater were co-chairmen of the event.

CONGRATULATIONS

Congratulations for a program which in every way was truly outstanding are hardly adequate to describe the annual May Festival held last Friday night at the Grayling High school gym.

The large audience in attendance was entertained by varied displays of talent exhibited by each of the elementary grades.

The community is indebted to the elementary teachers for their efforts in making this excellent program possible, also to the many parents who assisted in assembling the extremely attractive costumes for the cleverly arranged acts. Our high school band and the color guard added their support to make the evening complete.

Through activities such as this where one feeling of friendliness and admiration fill the air, it is proven again the school is a vital part of the community.

Whenever a number of parents and teachers, with one genuine love of children in their hearts, work together in the atmosphere of a pleasant school, you have the necessary ingredients for an active Parent-Teacher association.

Speaking for the Grayling P-T.A., may I say to all those wonderful people who made the May Festival possible, congratulations for an outstanding performance.

C. D. Wert, President Grayling P-T.A.
